A snapshot, not a live page. Written on November 8, 2026 for that moment and not updated since: what it says was current then. For today's numbers, your list and your tickets, open your dashboard, MUSEDASH, and its Dova's DREAMGLASS tab.

DJGuita — your list, in order

Nine things, each with who it is for, the date that governs it, and what it unlocks. November 8, 2026. Dates in red are set by others (Spotify, Meta); dates in blue are the rhythm we chose together.

Why this order. Spotify recommends a song by how much real listening it gets in its first days, and your newest single went out on November 5, so the clock is already running. Everything below either opens a door (the Meta account), feeds the dashboard (the exports), gives us material to run (the videos), or earns money that is already owed (the registrations). Nothing is spent and nothing is released without your yes.

	WHAT	WHO	BY WHEN	WHAT IT UNLOCKS
1	Your Wrapped video to your fans. A short clip (20 to 60 seconds) thanking the people who had you on repeat; upload it in the Spotify for Artists app or on desktop, where the purple banner is.	you	November 13 (Spotify's cut-off)	free reach to every listener Spotify counts as yours, inside Wrapped itself
2	The Meta business account in your name (the one-page note Jeffrey sent: portfolio, your page and Instagram inside it, Jeffrey added with full access, billing).	you, with Jeffrey on the phone	this week, before any ad	every campaign, intellijend's and ours; the pixel that remembers your listeners
3	A fresh team invitation for Jeffrey's Spotify account, the r3vm0nd4y5 Gmail (the October one went to his other address, which is why it never took). Team, Invite, that email, Editor or Reader. Two minutes; he asked by email this morning.	you	today	your stats flow into the dashboard without your login; the developer login stops colliding with yours
4	Share the Midnight City folder with Jeffrey. The FanpageKit email's "Open folder" links (the 30 finished videos, the raw clips, the posting playbook) and the two guides: share them with his Google account. The 29 edited videos he already has; the rest he cannot open yet.	you	at the call	the clips and the playbook for your fan pages; the method read whole before the first post
5	Your songs' masters (WAV or MP3 of Brujeria, Angel Face, Time Flies, the Country Version, Your shoes next to mine) in the shared folder, and one line per song: does the released audio carry AI? Your lyrics, the real instruments and the hired vocals are human; we only label what is actually AI.	you	this week	a fan-page video is a Midnight City clip with your hook under it: without the audio there is nothing to marry; the right label on each page and post
6	Your review of the fan pages before anything posts (your own rule: nothing goes live until you approve). Jeffrey builds the DJGuita email you proposed and the two fan pages, TikTok and Instagram, with your Spotify bio and link; the first batch of videos on Brujeria comes to you for a yes or a no per clip.	Jeffrey builds, you approve	the first batch this week	Step 1 and Step 2 of your November 1 note, in your order
7	The next release date. The rhythm that works is a song about every four weeks: counting from November 5, the window is December 3, give or take a week. Demons In My Closet if Alex's master is ready; otherwise the next one. The editor pitch must go in seven days before.	you, Alex	decide by November 19; pitch 7 days before release	the first full cycle: the vendor burst, our tests beside it, the measurement
7b	Your songs in TikTok's and Instagram's sound libraries. The FanpageKit guide's first check: open TikTok and Instagram and search for Brujeria; if it is not there, in DistroKid turn on TikTok and Instagram/Meta delivery for every release and wait for it to appear. A fan-page video picks the song inside the app, so without this nothing in the method works.	you (DistroKid), Jeffrey checks the apps	this week	the whole fan-page method; every post credits your song's own sound page
8	The money registrations. A performing-rights organisation (ASCAP or BMI) as writer, with Yukiyu Records as publisher; SoundExchange for the radio side	you	this month	royalties that are already owed and go unpaid until the forms exist

	(Time Flies is on air). CJ Barker's featured credit on the Country Version carries a share of its own.
9	intellijend's five connection steps, once item 2 exists; then one cycle with them on the next release, read from your own account.	Jeffrey, inside your account	right after item 2	their method measured once, then the same shape run by us, without a subscription
